	essential. Supervisors should also be familiar with the google drive and how to find checklists and details of events through the venue calendar. Venue supervisors must possess some knowledge of the studio equipment and be able to troubleshoot any basic technical issues a studio customer may have. Supervisors should be familiar with how to maintain the studios, and are responsible for their set up before & after customers use them. Training can be provided if required. Supervisors will not be expected to deliver specific training to staff. However we do ask that supervisors identify training requirements of specific team members and share their skills and knowledge accumulated whilst in post, to maintain high levels of service delivery within the team they lead. Venue supervisors are directly responsible for the cleanliness and functionality of the entire venue, including studios, dressing rooms, garden, toilets, kitchen and office space. This includes working through daily clean and close lists, and identifying areas of the venue which need cleaning/maintenance, and feeding this back to the Bar Manager. The venue supervisor is responsible for the security of the venue including, but not exclusively, closing the venue securely, and ensuring all doors and windows are locked, with the alarm system set. The venue supervisor will work in partnership with Event Managers and Security providers to safely and effectively deliver Future Yard's Ingress and Egress Policy for live events. In the absence of a venue manager a venue supervisor is the DPS (Designated Premises Supervisor). Therefore venue supervisors are responsible for the safe sale and consumption of alcohol in accordance with the Licensing Act 2003. This includes but not exclusively, checking ID & ensuring any staff checking alcohol are checking ID, the safety of customers consuming alcohol and refusing service to customers who appear drunk. The safety of customers extends to their travel home. In the absence of a venue manager, a venue supervisor is the designated Fire Marshall. In the event of a fire alarm it is the venue supervisors role to investigate and order an evacuation in accordance with the Future Yard Fire Safety Protocol & Fire Evacuation Procedure. It is the Venue Supervisor's responsibility to ensure that all fire exits are clear at the start, during and end of shifts and that the fire alarm panel is active and functional at the start and end of shifts. It is also the Venue Supervisor's responsibility to ensure the live room ventilation system is turned on and off, as required and dependent on events taking place in our live room. Should a customer require first aid, in the absence of a venue manager, a venue supervisor is the designated First Aider. However, First Aid may be administered by the team member nearest to the incident if they are adequately trained to do so. The venue supervisor should take the lead in contacting the emergency services and is responsible for the safety and health of the customer thereafter. The role involves managing problem customers. Contacting Police or First Response services is the responsibility of the venue supervisor
